

- tation with palmitoylethanolamide and polydatin in irritable bowel syndrome. Aliment Pharmacol Ther 2017;45:909-22.
43. Varrassi G, Paladini A, Corno C, et al. A decades-long journey of palmitoylethanolamide (PEA), as a cornerstone in chronic neuropathic pain management: a comprehensive narrative review. Preprints 2024;2024030174.
 44. Camilleri M. What's in the pipeline for lower functional gastrointestinal disorders in the next 5 years? Am J Physiol Gastrointest Liver Physiol 2019;317:G640-50.
 45. Zhou Q, Yang L, Larson S, et al. Decreased miR-199 augments visceral pain in patients with IBS through translational upregulation of TRPV1. Gut 2016;65:797-805.
 46. Sun J, Liang W, Yang X, et al. Cytoprotective effects of galacto-oligosaccharides on colon epithelial cells via up-regulating miR-19b. Life Sci 2019;231:116589.
 47. Hou Q, Huang Y, Zhang C, et al. MicroRNA-200a targets cannabinoid receptor 1 and serotonin transporter to increase visceral hyperalgesia in diarrhea-predominant irritable bowel syndrome rats. J Neurogastroenterol Motil 2018;24:656-68.
 48. Zhu H, Xiao X, Chai Y, et al. MiRNA-29a modulates visceral hyperalgesia in irritable bowel syndrome by targeting HTR7. Biochem Biophys Res Commun 2019;511:671-8.
 49. Ji NN, Meng QX, Wang Y, et al. Microglia-derived TNF- α inhibiting GABAergic neurons in the anterior lateral bed nucleus of the stria terminalis precipitates visceral hypersensitivity induced by colorectal distension in rats. Neurobiol Stress 2022;18:100449.
 50. Dumitrascuta M, Martin C, Ballet S, Spetea M. Bifunctional peptidomimetic G protein-biased mu-opioid receptor agonist and neuropeptide FF receptor antagonist KGFF09 shows efficacy in visceral pain without rewarding effects after subcutaneous administration in mice. Molecules 2022;27:8785.
 51. Jiang Y, Castro J, Blomster LV, et al. Pharmacological inhibition of the voltage-gated sodium channel NaV1.7 alleviates chronic visceral pain in a rodent model of irritable bowel syndrome. ACS Pharmacol Transl Sci 2021;4:1362-78.
 52. Maatoug R, Jebali J, Guieu R, et al. BotAF, a new Buthus occitanus tunetanus scorpion toxin, produces potent analgesia in rodents. Toxicon 2018;149:72-85.
 53. Ford AC, Vanner S, Kashyap PC, Nasser Y. Chronic visceral pain: new peripheral mechanistic insights and resulting treatments. Gastroenterology 2024:S0016-5085(24)00132-X. Online Ahead of Print.

Non-commercial use only